

End Of The Line For Factory Farming* campaign

High profile supporters

Star of TV's Succession, actor Brian Cox, CBE

"Tackling climate change is one of the most important undertakings of our time – but to turn the tide on this crisis, we need to address its root causes – and animal factory farming is one of them. Far beyond the suffering it inflicts on animals, intensive farming is threatening the very future of our planet. That's why I'm supporting Compassion in World Farming's End of the Line for Factory Farming."

Photo credit: David Ho

Stage, TV and film actor Alan Cumming OBE FRSE, known for roles in The Good Wife and X2:X-Men United

"The amount of human edible food we produce just to feed the animals we slaughter for meat is beyond wasteful – especially when millions of people around the world go hungry every day. We need a food system that is fair, kind and sustainable. That's why I'm signing Compassion in World Farming's End of the Line for Factory Farming petition - to help change this broken system once and for all."

Peter Egan, Downton Abbey and After Life actor and campaigner

"Our global food system is broken. Across the planet, huge swathes of land are cleared for intensive animal agriculture every day. This causes immense suffering to animals and is destroying the environment. Meanwhile, people around the world are going hungry whilst we waste huge amounts of human edible crops feeding farm animals, simply to produce cheap meat. This has to end, that's why I'm signing the End of the Line for Factory Farming petition."

(N.B. High-res versions of the above images are available here)

Other celebrity and high profile supporters of the campaign include:

Steve Coogan, actor, writer and producer; Jane Goodall PhD DBE, UN Messenger of Peace and Founder of the Jane Goodall Institute; Chris Packham, naturalist, TV presenter and author; Deborah Meaden, businesswoman and TV personality; Megan McCubbin, zoologist and co-host of BBC's Springwatch and AutumnWatch; Dr Emma Milne BVSc FRCVS, TV vet and author; Dr Amir Khan GP, NHS doctor and TV personality.